Tonight's artist...

Pianist Ran Feng's career was launched at the age of fifteen when she won third prize and the special "Pianist of the Future" award in the Tbilisi Junior Piano Competition. Born in China, she began her piano studies at the age of four, enrolled in the Lysenko School of Music for Gifted Children in Ukraine at the age of fourteen, and earned her bachelor's and master's degrees from the Tchaikovsky Conservatory in Ukraine. Further studies ensued at the prestigious Imola Piano

Academy in Italy, as well as in England and the United States.

A noted interpreter of the music of Liszt, Ms. Feng has received critical acclaim for her Liszt performances in Weimar, Germany, and as a contestant in the Liszt International Piano Competition in The Netherlands. Other solo performances have taken her to London, Manchester, Milan, Florence, Paris, Jaen, Boston and Denton, TX. She has also given chamber performances in The Netherlands, Paris and Jaen, Spain.

In addition to her public performances, Ran Feng is a committed educator. Prior to the pandemic, in 2018, she organized the Recondite Armonie Summer Music Festival in Grosseto, Italy, which offered learning and performance opportunities for younger piano students. In 2020, she was invited to become an artistic consultant for Beijing Ethos Music Foundation. Through the foundation, she gives online master classes, as well as virtual performances and short talks about music for young piano students.

Currently residing in Texas, Ms. Feng is completing her DMA studies under the direction of Dr. Pamela Mia Paul and working as a teaching fellow at the University of North Texas.
